large force of men were kept at work on the parrowing, it was in fairly good condition by the time of the first race. The top was very umpy, but the bottom was hard.

crowd was present. Although the fields were small, the quality was fair and the speculation promised to be brisk, and from the looks of things the talent should get decidedly the est of it, as all the favorites seem, on form, to be thrown in the easy spots.

There were only two scratches, Azrael and Greenwich, but the withdrawal of the former it, as she was the only one that looked able o give Ella any kind of an argument.

The meeting of King Crab and Bittzen in the third race is drawing out tots of interest, and there are many who believe the Crab will defeat Bradley's sterling little colt, arguing that he is getting too much of it.

The opening event, at six furlongs, for tworear-olds, which have not won at this meetng, had six starters, of which Sir Richard went the rounds and bet big bundles of money on Violet 8.

The Suspense filly caused a delay at the post by her crazy actions, but they were inadly sent away well together, with the Athiena cilly and Sir Hichard in front. At the quarter Violet 8, took the lead, and from that out made every post a winning one, cantering home six lengths before Sir Richard, who beat the Athiena filly half a length of the mace under h drive. ard, who beat the Athleus filly hair a length for the place under a cirve.

Kila was a 2 to 5 ravorite in the second race, after Arnel had been withdraw, and wea never pressed, winning with the greatest case by a length and a haif. There was a big plunge on Mamie B. B., but she was never prominent. Cheddar, whose headstall slipped, succeeded in beating Bon Veyage a head for the place. Yesterday, among a very poor lot, Cheddar was not able to raise a gallop.

Bittzen was a top-heavy choice for the third race, King Crab next tancied. There was a big plunge on J. B. Freed. They were sent away well bunched, with J. P. Freed in front, and he cut out a merry clip for a quarter of a mile, where the favorite passed him, and nothing ever got near him again, winning under a pull by six lengths. King Crab beat Fencion five lengths.

They were kept at the post some time by the antics of the Suspense filly, but were finally sent away well bunched with the Atblena filly in front. After they had gone a quarter violet 8, drew away, and the farther they went the greater her lead was increased, winning pulled up by a haif dozen lengths. She So Pleads in General Sessions and Was Remanded for Sentence. Marie Jeanne Chaux, better known as Mme. Jennie Laurent, whose house in West Third street was raided some time ago by Rev. 1st. Parkhurst's agents, was called to plead to the charge of keeping a disorderly house before afternoon.

She pleaded guilty to the indictment and was remanded for sentence until Friday.

The large crowd present showed disappointment when the woman pleaded guilty. Rev. Dr. Parkhurst was present, but was not called on for any evidence.

Lawyer Joe Moss, of Howe & Hummel's office, who represented Miss Laurent, said the plea was entered to avoid going into the unwholesome details of the last. the plea was entered to avoid going into the unwholesome details of the case.

The woman he said had abated the nuisance immediately after her arrest, and had been since living quietly and respectably. Only last hight she was married to a well known merchant in this city.

In view of these facts it is expected that the Recorder will suspend sentence when the woman is called up on Saturday.
